

Lesson 18 Questions

What is the primary benefit of using thumbnails on a webpage that has many images?

When using the Rectangular Marquee Selection Tool in Photoshop, how do you select a perfect square?

Why is it important to keep the original full size and full quality images even if you are not using them on your website?

What does "Constrain Proportions" mean?

When, if ever, is it appropriate to use images you find on the web for your own website?

When naming any file that will be on the web, what character do you want to avoid using so that browsers do not replace it with %20?